Peter Staudenmaier
Associate Professor
Department of History
Marquette University

Education

PhD in Modern European History, Cornell University, 2010
MA in Modern European History, Cornell University, 2006
BA in German Studies, University of Wisconsin, 1998

"The Rise of the Right: Making Sense of Populism, Authoritarianism, and Fascism" Rethinking Social Transformation Conference, University of British Columbia, June 2019

"The Politics of Organic Agriculture in Interwar Germany: From Nature to Nation" American Society for Environmental History conference, Ohio State University, April 2019

"From Fascist Italy to the Alt-Right: Julius Evola and the Revival of Radical Antisemitism" Conference on "Contending with Antisemitism in a Changing Political Climate" Indiana University, March 2019

"Antisemitism and the Rome-Berlin Axis: The Failed 'Blood and Spirit' Project in Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany" International Symposium on Religion and Nationalism in the Era of the World Wars, University of Toronto, May 2017

"The Politics of Nature, Left and Right: Radicals, Reactionaries, and Ecological Responses to Capitalism" keynote presentation for "Ecological Challenges" conference, University of Oslo, February 2017

"The Transnational Occult: Esoteric Migrations between Germany and Italy from 1900 to the Second World War" Conference on "Esoteric Interferences: Towards a Transnational History of the Occult in Germany and Italy" Villa Vigoni, Italy, November 2016

"Ancient Religion in Modern Garb? Völkisch Spirituality as a Response to Fin de Siècle Modernity" German Studies Association conference, San Diego, September 2016

Holocaust Education Foundation Summer Institute Fellowship, Northwestern University, 2010

"Coming to Terms with the Past in Contemporary Germany" Milwaukee Jewish Community Center, March 2014

"Democracy and the Left" University of Chicago, November 2013

"Antisemitism in Weimar Germany and the Rise of the Nazi Party" Holocaust Study Institute, February 2013

"Democracy in Radical Movements fo012